

Mental Health & Wellbeing Resource List - Central Coast

Central Coast Mental Health Service

The Central Coast Mental Health Service (CCMHS) sees people experiencing moderate to severe mental illness, including people at risk of suicide. Both Gosford and Wyong hospitals have inpatient units that provide specialist mental health care for people who are acutely unwell. Community mental health services provide support in the community across the Central Coast. These community services are aged based:

- Child & Adolescent Mental Health Service
- Adult Mental Health
- Older People's Mental Health Service

Mental Health Line - 1800 011 511 (available 24/7)

Call the Mental Health Line to make contact with the CCMHS. The Mental Health Line will link people into the most appropriate part of the CCMHS OR provide information about other specialised services that are more suitable.

NOTE: The Mental Health Line is not a telephone counselling service or an emergency service. If an emergency response is needed, call 000.
